RULING ON ENTITLEMENT¹

On October 8, 2020, Elizabeth Adams filed a petition for compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, 42 U.S.C. §300aa-10, *et seq.*² (the “Vaccine Act”). Petitioner alleges that she suffered a shoulder injury related to vaccine administration (SIRVA) resulting from an influenza (flu) vaccine she received on October 18, 2017. Petition at 1. Petitioner further alleges that the vaccination was administered within the United States, her injuries lasted for more than six months, and neither she, nor any other party, has ever received any compensation in the form of an award or settlement for Petitioner’s vaccine-related injuries. Petition at 1,3. The case was assigned to the Special Processing Unit of the Office of Special Masters.

If, upon review, I agree that the identified material fits within this definition, I will redact such material from public access.

² National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act of 1986, Pub. L. No. 99-660, 100 Stat. 3755. Hereinafter, for ease of citation, all section references to the Vaccine Act will be to the pertinent subparagraph of 42 U.S.C. § 300aa (2012).

On January 14, 2022, Respondent filed his Rule 4(c) report in which he concedes that Petitioner is entitled to compensation in this case. Respondent's Rule 4(c) Report at 1. Respondent determined that Petitioner suffered a SIRVA of the left shoulder as defined by the Vaccine Injury Table. Id. at 4. Specifically, Respondent found that "[P]etitioner had no recent history of pain, inflammation, or dysfunction of her left shoulder; the onset of pain occurred within 48 hours after receipt of an intramuscular vaccination; the pain was limited to the shoulder where the vaccine was administered; and, no other condition or abnormality, such as brachial neuritis, has been identified to explain petitioner's left shoulder symptoms." Id. Respondent concluded that Petitioner has satisfied all legal prerequisites for compensation under the Vaccine Act.

In view of Respondent's position and the evidence of record, I find that Petitioner is entitled to compensation.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
